Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to express my keen interest in the Database Administrator position at York Region, which I came across in your recent advertisement. As a college student with a strong passion for data management and optimization, I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to your team's innovative projects and initiatives.

Throughout my academic journey, I have immersed myself in database management courses and projects in the Computer Programming and Analysis program at George Brown College, where I gained hands-on experience in working with Oracle and SQL Server databases. I am eager to apply the theoretical knowledge and practical skills I've acquired to real-world scenarios at York Region. While I may lack professional experience, I am enthusiastic about learning and am confident in my ability to quickly adapt and contribute effectively to your team.

I am drawn to York Region's commitment to innovation and employee well-being, and I am eager to be part of a team that is dedicated to making a positive impact. I am confident that my academic background, coupled with my passion for data management, aligns well with the requirements of this role.

Thank you for considering my application for the Database Administrator. I am excited about the possibility of discussing how my qualifications can align with your needs. I am available for an interview at your earliest convenience and can be reached at 4374384271 or via email at ferdosyassin6@gmail.com. I have attached my resume for your review.
